Wheat Figures Released

32 Million Nebraska Bushels Mortgaged

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

The State Office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Administration has announced that more than 32,000,000 bushels of the 1953 wheat crop have been placed under government loans.

This amount represents $71,897,410. Although the loan period for corn still has until April to run, about 30,000,000 bushels have been placed under loan. This represents a corn loan amount of about $46,500,000.

Robert Webb, office manager of the state office, said that while loans have been placed by several large producers in Nebraska, the average placed by individual farmers for wheat was 1,234 bushels for an amount of $2,708. For corn, the amount was only slightly higher with an average of 1,605 bushels. This represents an average loan amount of $2,487.

Storage Figures

Webb said 16,173 loans have been made on wheat that has been stored by individual farmers in their bins. Wheat placed in elevators and in commercial bins has totaled 23,645 different loans for a total of 15,837,136 bushels.

For corn, 15,925 loans have been granted for 20,460,567 bushels. In addition to this 76 commercial warehouse loans have been granted on 1953 corn.

Wheat producers which are down for the largest loans are topped in Nebraska by Cleo Harmon of Hastings with 44,387 bushels for a loan amount of $99,503. He was followed by George McNeff of Brule with 31,734 bushels for $72,337, by Louis Vance of Chappell with 30,635 bushels for $72,002, Rudd Brothers of Venango with 30,049 for $62,741, and by KJL-patrik Brothers of Lincoln with 29,965 bushels for $65,832.

ASC Officials Emphasize That Government Pays No Form of Subsidy Payments to Farmers in This Grain Loan Program. All Figures Cited are Loans on Crops Which are Secured by the Producer by Placing his Grain as Collateral.

The largest figures cited for the corn producers was a $67,006 loan on 43,230 bushels to Ernest Hundahl of Tekamah. Other top loans included:

Harland Milligan of Scribner with $41,780 on 26,955 bushels. Mead Farms of Fremont with $39,680 on 25,680 bushels. Beverly Land Company of Sioux City for $37,907 on 24,615 bushels.

John Tobin of Tekamah for $33,249 on 21,451 bushels.

The available data for securing loans on wheat ended on Jan. 30, but the period for corn will run through April.

This Man Got A Shove—And What A Shove!

CRANSTON, R. I. (AP)—A motorist from this city sheepishly swears this story is true—but even if it isn't, a newspaper would have to be pretty selfish not to pass it along as he tells it.

He was driving on the Merritt Parkway toward New York when his car stalled and he discovered the battery was dead.

He flagged down a passing driver, who was a woman, and she agreed to give him a push to get the car started.

Because his car has an automatic transmission the driver explained to the lady, "you'll have to get up to 30 to 35 miles an hour in order to get me started."

The lady nodded wisely and the stalled driver climbed into his car and waited for her to line up behind him.

He waited. And waited. Then he turned around to see where the woman was.

She was there all right—coming at him at 30 to 35 miles an hour.

The crash caused $300 damage to his car.

FBI Stands By In Iowa Farm Robbery, Murder

Four-State Police Alerted For Gunmen; Safe Found

MONDAMIN, Ia. (AP)—A 38 caliber revolver which Harrison County Atty. Russell McKay said was believed to have been used by three bandits in the holdup slaying of William Edwards, 31, Mondamin farmer, was found in the weeds along Highway 75 late Tuesday.

The gun was found near the Little Sioux River bridge, where the bandits also threw away some of the clothing and stocking masks they are believed to have worn in the robbery, McKay said.

MONDAMIN, Ia. (INS)—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were standing by Tuesday ready to enter the search for three masked gunmen who robbed and killed 50-year-old William Edwards, farmer near Mondamin, Monday night.

Local peace officers in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota have been alerted for the three men believed traveling in a green pickup truck bearing Minnesota license plates.

A truck answering that description and three men reportedly "acting suspiciously" were seen near North Sioux City, South Dakota, early Tuesday about the time Edwards' safe was found ripped open in the South Dakota town across the river from Sioux City, Ia.

The FBI said it would enter the case if it is established that more than $5,000 had been transported across state lines by the bandits.

It was estimated that Edwards' safe contained about $9,000 in cash and $10,000 worth of government bonds and other securities.

The battered safe was empty when found but a few papers belonging to Edwards were found strewn around the area.

Anselmo Highway Meet Set

Road Hearing Is Inconclusive

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The State Highway Advisory Commission discussed many problems regarding highways Tuesday, but reached few conclusions. Next meeting will be March 15 at which time they will hold a hearing on the proposed relocation of Nebr. 2 west of Anselmo.

The department proposes to rebuild the road parallel to the present road which will be used as a detour during construction. The work was opposed by the late Don Hanna, member of the commission, who urged that the money could be better spent on other roads. State Engineer L. N. Riss explained that such a change was impossible because the funds could not be used on secondary roads after being allocated for primary highways.

A committee was named to prepare a resolution formally adopting the "sufficiency rating" system as the commission's approved pattern for improving highways.

During the afternoon, the commission heard a delegation from the Nebraska Highway Users Conference. The commission was given copies of the statement of principles and objectives which the conference said they thought the commission should follow and Vice President Gale Anderson then read the treatise to the commission.

Chris Metzger of Cedar Creek on completion of the reading commented that the statement was "very broad but not very specific." He then called attention to the conference termed itself a "fact-finding and information-giving" body.

"Have you any facts or information to give us?" Metzger inquired.

Answered in the negative, Metzger then asked, "Have you made any study of the facts? Have you gone down to the Highway Department and have you ever studied their reports?"

Anderson said they had studied the reports and continued, "We did not want to subject you to a lot of facts and figures before we knew what you wanted."

"Want Facts." Chairman A. L. Coad interposed to state, "We want any facts that show anything is wrong and any facts that will help us to improve state highways."

The conference statement also proposed a study of methods of budgeting, accounting, auditing and purchasing of all governmental units that expend highway funds.

Merle Kingsbury of Ponca inquired whether they suggested that the commission investigate every county and city that gets gas tax or motor vehicle fees. Anderson said it should be done if they found it necessary.

"You as a private citizen could go into the state auditor's office, just around the corner, and you would find that many counties are not following the law, particularly in expending Schroeeder mail route funds," State Engineer L. N. Riss explained.

"There are no penalties in the law and you can't send those county commissioners to the penitentiary."

Coad suggested that the conference bring back any reasonable date any facts and information they can obtain that will be of value to the commission.

The commission had previously discussed the methods used by counties in expending highway funds and practically everyone told of instances where the counties made their own laws and did not follow state law in expending funds.

Russell Lockwood, representing Nebraska Petroleum Industries Committee, one of the 10 members of the conference, praised the highway department for doing a better job than in past years and particularly praised them for advance planning.

Engineer Riss told the commission that the advance planning had been a standard operational procedure of the department for the 30 years that he has been employed there.

The Council is still awaiting a traffic study on the number of cars which use 16th between Harrison and Lake. The park board has recommended that 16th be closed in that area along with the short cut-off from 16th and Harrison northeast to Perkins.

The Charles H. Rudge Memorial fund has been earmarked for improvements to the lake area with $12,500 to help defray the cost of the sewer work and another $15,000 for other landscaping and beautification. The area will be named Rudge Memorial Park.

Demos Get Set For Floor Fight

House Ways And Means Committee Republicans Urged To Reconsider Tax Exemption Hike Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday sidetracked—amid sharp political maneuvering—Democratic proposals for big cuts in both individual income and estate taxes.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.), senior Democrat on the tax-writing group, promptly served public notice that Democrats will fight on the House floor, if necessary, for an individual income tax cut this year for all taxpayers.

Cooper, in a statement backed by House Democratic leaders, urged Republicans on the committee to reconsider their earliest action defeating a Democratic move to boost personal income tax exemption from $500 to $700.

2 1/2 Billion Involved That would save taxpayers—and cost the government in revenue—about 2 1/2 billion dollars a year. Cooper said individuals "have not received their fair share of tax relief" in a vast tax revision bill now nearing completion within the committee.

There were no outward signs of Republicans yielding on the politically explosive issue at this time, but GOP congressional leaders conceded privately that some of their party members are getting restive under almost daily Democratic hammering for bigger tax cuts.

These leaders said they are expecting President Eisenhower to make a nationwide television or radio broadcast soon, aimed at marshalling public and congressional support for the administration's embattled tax policies.

Rep. Boggs (D-La.) provoked a sharp argument within a closed-door committee session by moving to cut all excise or sales taxes which are now above 10 per cent down to that level.

Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) banged his gavel and declared the motion out of order. There was a flurry of debate, but the Boggs motion never was pressed to a vote.

Strict Party Division Boggs said that all 15 Democrats were ready to vote for the move, which would cut revenues about $50 million dollars a year. He said all 15 Republicans opposed taking up the issue now.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) and other key Republicans already have backed a similar proposal, although the Eisenhower administration apparently opposes it unless other excise taxes are raised to offset any loss in revenue.

Reed ruled the Boggs' motion out of order on grounds the committee has agreed unanimously not to deal with major tax rates in the general revision bill. The chairman said the issue, if adopted, "would simply have disrupted our present work." He added that the committee would take up excise tax rates in time for Congress to complete action by April 1.

Boggs said he knew of no such agreement. "I am sure that those businesses which are saddled with these high tax rates will believe that this is a poor excuse for denying them relief," he said in a statement.

Both Democratic moves were generally interpreted as efforts to keep the party in the forefront of congressional action to cut taxes and possibly beat Republicans to the punch.

The Republican-sponsored general revision bill would provide tax reductions of about 1 1/4 billion dollars the first year, not through changes in major rates but through scores of other changes chiefly increasing deductions.

Cost Of State Car Operation 4 Cents A Mile

By ARCH DONOVAN Star Staff Writer

Cost of operating state owned passenger cars increased from 4.04 cents per mile in 1952 to 4.14 in 1953, according to a cost compilation made Tuesday by Blaine Yoder, state purchasing agent.

The increase was largely reflected in depreciation figures which are based on 20 per cent a year. Cost per mile excluding depreciation was 2.61 in 1952 and 2.27 in 1953. Operation miles in 1952 was 11,077,888 and last year 11,032,541.

Cost of gasoline in 1952 was $14.09 per thousand miles and last year $14.23 but lubrication dropped from $1.76 to $1.46 and tires from $2.25 to $2.07. Average repair cost was $6.38 per 1,000 miles.

Among the larger fleet operators the University of Nebraska operated at the highest cost last year with 76 units traveling 1,214,194 miles at a cost per mile of 3.24 cents. The Safety Patrol with 169 units traveled 4,220,060 at a cost of 2.38 cents.

The bureau of highways with 102 units traveled 1,235,647 miles at a cost of 2.55 cents per mile and the fish and game department with 1,292,133 miles of travel for 44 units spent 3 cents.

The agriculture department with 53 units traveling 1,102,928 miles cost 2.28 cents.

The state used a total of 682,855 gallons of fuel, costing $156,989 in 561 cars, as compared with 778,078 gallons costing $156,111 in 497 vehicles in 1952. The cost of fuel includes the six-cent gas tax which was increased over 1952. Total operating cost not counting depreciation of $173,001 was $283,946.

The tremors occurred in the same general region that was hit by similar shocks on Sunday when an eight block area was damaged by surface upheavals.

Tuesday night's disturbance caused further damage to Lafayette Gardens, a 92-apartment housing project that was hit by the earlier shocks.

Ike Guards Nab 2 'Visitors' And Rifle

'No Indication Of Plot' Reported; President Packs Away Golf Clubs

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Police arrested and took a rifle from two men who attempted to call on President Eisenhower at his vacation headquarters Tuesday.

Announcing the arrest, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen there was "no indication at all" that the men had plotted an attempt on the President's life.

The incident occurred in mid-afternoon, a few hours before Eisenhower started back to Washington by plane.

Hagerty called a news conference to tell of the arrest of the two, who have been charged with vagrancy, he said.

The secretary said there had been a report of an attempt on Eisenhower's life.

"That," Hagerty declared, "is completely inaccurate."

What did happen, he added, was that two men who had been drinking quite a bit "drove up about 4:30 p.m. CST to the gate of Smoke Tree Ranch where the President and Mrs. Eisenhower had been vacationing guests since last Wednesday.

Hagerty identified the men as Carl Lee Kinsey and John D. Ortega, an Indian.

Police later gave Kinsey's age as 25 and said he was from San Bernardino, Calif. They identified Ortega as a 48-year-old Mission Indian living in the Palm Springs area.

They told Secret Service agents guarding the gate they wanted to see the President, who had just returned to the ranch from nearby Tamarisk Golf Club.

The agents became suspicious of the behavior of the men and took a look in the back seat of their car, an old Ford, and found an unloaded rifle and some shells.

The Secret Service took the two into custody then and turned them over to Palm Springs Police Chief John S. Davis.

At Tamarisk, Eisenhower played golf with Frank Leahy, former football coach at Notre Dame, then packed away his clubs and made ready to return to Washington.

Eisenhower is returning to a busy round of conferences at the White House Wednesday—with Secretary of State Dulles and Republican congressional leaders.

Registration for the second semester at the University of Nebraska totaled 6,480 students, an increase of 126 students over a year ago. Dr. Floyd W. Hoover, director of registration and records, revealed Wednesday.

Dr. Hoover said he believed that last year hit the low point in registration. The second-semester registration totaled 6,354 in 1953, 6,376 in 1952 and 7,078 in 1951.

The breakdown of this semester's registration follows: Non-veterans, 5,298; non-veteran graduates, 512; veterans, 128; veteran graduates, 52; College of Medicine, 371; School of Nursing, 119.

Leslie C. Loomis, a veteran of 26 years with the Humane Society here, and superintendent of the Society since 1939, submitted his resignation Tuesday during a meeting of the organization's board of trustees.

Loomis, often called man's best friend's best friend, said that he was resigning, effective April 15, in order to take a position doing field work for the American Humane Association.

He said that he will probably move to Wisconsin when he begins the new job.

In submitting his resignation, Loomis said: "I have certainly enjoyed working with the people of Lincoln. They have been wonderful. I think that Lincoln is closer to solving its 'pet problems' than it ever has been."

Loomis said he will leave for Wisconsin shortly after April 15 and that his family would follow later. He is married and has three sons, Leslie, 26, of Lincoln; and Ed, 16, and Bobby, 11, at home.

Code Charge Denied

Army Says Mrs. Moss Had No Access To Military Secrets

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (INS)—A former FBI counterspy testified Tuesday that a woman until recently employed as a coded-material handler at the Pentagon once was a Communist Party member, but the Army denied the alleged Red ever had access to military secrets.

The ex-FBI undercover agent, Mrs. Mary Markward, told the investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy that the Army employee, Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, was in 1944 a "card-carrying, dues-paying member" of the Communist Party's North East Club in Washington.

McCarthy asserted that "Annie Lee Moss is currently employed in the code room of the Signal Corps handling the encoding and decoding of secret messages." The Senator said the Army has had the facts in the case "for a long time."

But the Army, in a statement, said that Mrs. Moss had handled only "unintelligible" code messages, feeding them into an automatic machine, and that she never had access to a code or cryptographic room. The statement added that she was transferred to a supply room job Feb. 5, McCarthy said he "had no comment" on the Army statement.

Strong Denial
The statement emphasized that the coded material Mrs. Moss handled "could not be understood even if it should get into the hands of unauthorized persons."

Mrs. Moss, a 48-year-old widow, told International News Service she never had been a Communist or Red sympathizer, said she did not know Mrs. Markward, and insisted she did not work in a code room and had no knowledge of codes.

She said she was questioned Monday by agents of the House Un-American Activities Committee and that she was told to report to the McCarthy Senate group Tuesday, but that when she appeared as instructed she was sent home by a subcommittee aide who told her she was "too sick to testify."

McCarthy told newsmen that Mrs. Moss would be called "as soon as her health permits" and added: "If she denies membership (in the Communist Party) her case will be turned over to the Justice Department."

The Moss case was a new explosion in McCarthy's battle with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens over the Army's handling of cases involving alleged Communists.

Witness To Return
The day's developments included:

1. McCarthy said when Tuesday's hearing was recessed that Mrs. Markward would return to the stand Wednesday and name five persons as having been "connected" with the Communist Party while she was masquerading as a Red.

2. The Wisconsin Republican said he "doubted very much" that Stevens was aware of the Moss case. McCarthy added, however, that his subcommittee had warned the Army "some time ago" it would bare details of the case unless the Pentagon acted against Mrs. Moss.

3. Stevens declared he had been given "no previous information about any Communist or the Army payroll."

4. The Army secretary announced he would appear before the subcommittee Thursday in the controversy over McCarthy's alleged "abuse" of Brig.

City Council OKs Plans, Estimates On Paving Project

Plans, specifications and a $62,000 estimate of cost have been approved by the City Council for the paving of Vine from 40th to 48th and 40th from Vine to W.

The paving will cost the city $13,852 in extra costs which will be deducted from the $62,000 cost of the entire project to be assessed against property owners. An extra 12 feet width on the paving will cost the city $10,985. Storm sewer work amounts to $1,867.50 and extra depth of the concrete base will cost $1,000.

Where needed for the general welfare of the city, paving widths beyond 26 feet are paid for by the city rather than abutting property owners. Another paving project, Vine from 35th to 40th, cost the city $28,121 in similar extra costs.

The contract on that $39,000 job has already been let.

Ray Osborn Pays Last Official City Council Visit; Feted

Ray Osborn, resigned city welfare and safety director, made his last official appearance at a meeting of the City Council Monday.

The meeting closed with an expression by Mayor Clark Jeary of the "outstanding" work done by Osborn the past four years. The city, said Jeary, has nothing but gratitude for the service rendered by Osborn.

Osborn, in turn, expressed appreciation to the Council, city directors and all city employees for the co-operation shown during the past four years. It has been a most harmonious relationship, said Osborn.

Osborn, who resigned to enter private business, has been succeeded by Emmett Junge.

Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commandant of Camp Kilmer, N. J. Stevens said he would defend his directive to Zwicker to ignore McCarthy's orders for further appearances.

Ike Won't Intervene

5. At Palm Springs, Calif., sources close to President Eisenhower said they expected no public intervention by the chief executive in the McCarthy-Stevens battle over Zwicker's refusal to answer McCarthy's questions about the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress. The major, an ex-Army dentist, has refused to say whether he was a Communist.

In an interview, Mrs. Moss declared tearfully: "I am a loyal American. I am not now and I never have been a Communist. I didn't know any Communists. If I did, I would gladly name them. I love my country more than anything else. I would never do anything to hurt my country."

Sec. Benson: Farmer Has Soils Role

... Conservation Talk

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Tuesday individual farmers and local communities must play the primary role in conserving the nation's soils and protecting agricultural lands from floods.

But he added "for them to get the job done, it is imperative that they have the best possible information, guidance and assistance."

Benson spoke at a luncheon meeting of the eighth annual convention of the National Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts.

At the luncheon, Mrs. W. L. Spears of Okmulgee, Okla., was presented the $1,000 first prize for winning the national speaking contest sponsored by the association.

Benson told the delegates, all of whom are local soil conservation leaders that in the 1954 departmental budget 352 million dollars was included for conservation and development of land, water and forest resources. The total budget for the department was about 711 million dollars, he said.

Speaking of the reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service, he said the purpose was to "strengthen that organization so as to better serve farmers."

Editor Raymond A. McConnell Jr., of the Lincoln Neb. Journal Tuesday called on the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts to sponsor a national watershed conservation congress.

And, he said, it should be held this spring, before congress adjourns, and its object should be action—not discussion and study, and not research.

United Air Lines Terminal Lease Okayed By Council

A five-year lease by United Air Lines of space in the city's new Municipal Airport terminal building have been approved by the City Council.

The lease calls for exclusive use by United of 2,100 square feet of space at a cost of $4,725 per year. United will also pay $40 a month for janitor service and $15 a month on rental of the public address system.

United's landing fees which previously went to the city will now be paid to the government. The lease is retroactive to Dec. 1, 1953, the initial date of occupancy by United.

News Around The Globe

'A' Cannon Report

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A West German veterans' newspaper said Tuesday the Soviet Union has stationed atomic cannon in neighboring Czechoslovakia. There was no immediate comment from West German officials.

The Deutsche Soldatenzeitung said the move was in answer to American atomic cannon recently brought to West Germany by United States forces. The U. S. Army disclosed last week that six new atomic cannon had been received in Germany to supplement the six brought in last October.

Jeweler Is Mum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Victoria Stone, a New York jeweler, refused Tuesday to answer more than 60 questions about Red spying in the United States.

When members of the House Un-American Activities Committee told her they had evidence linking her with Communist espionage in the '30s and '40s, Mrs. Stone exclaimed:

"I have definitely denied it time and time again, and I refuse to answer again."

Two More Paving Refund Demands Given To Council

Two more demands for refunds of special assessments paid in paving district 1150 have been received by the City Council.

Dale R. and Alta L. McAdams, 3439 No. 53rd, asked for a refund of $67.65 they paid on a paving assessment they asserted was assessed for an illegal and unauthorized purpose. Their property, they said, was not benefited to the extent charged.

Filing claim for a $616.53 refund were Walter J. and Delisle W. Myers, 3445 Richmond Rd. Their claim contained the same objections.

The claims are the third to come from assessments in the district. Other assessments have been paid under protest.

Past Ash Suggests Speed Limit Hike

City Councilman Pat Ash has suggested a five mile an hour increase in the speed limit on some arterials in the city.

Ash stated that if the streets are to be radar patrolled and the speed limits enforced, then those limits should be realistic. Most drivers, contended Ash, are averaging more than 30 miles per hour on arterials where that is the limit.

The suggestion was referred to the Traffic Commission.

'Risk' Study Asked

WASHINGTON (INS)—A Senate committee ordered Tuesday a full investigation of the administration's dismissal of federal workers as "security risks," including charges that many of the 2,200 it claims to have fired are still on the pay roll.

The probe was voted by the Senate Post Office-Civil Service Committee which announced that it is calling Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission as the first witness in public hearings opening next Tuesday.

Meanwhile, a House Appropriations Subcommittee made public testimony by State Department Security Chief R. W. Scott McLeod disclosing that the department dropped 580 security risks last year but almost half of them were transferred to other federal agencies.

Charges Levelled

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. career diplomat and a former congressman were named Tuesday in indictments charging conspiracy in disposing of surplus ships from World War II.

They were Julius C. Holmes, former U.S. minister to London now on leave of absence after being called home to work in the State Department to help settle the Yugoslav-Italian dispute over Trieste, and former Rep. Joseph E. Casey, Massachusetts Democrat.

Also named was Stavros Niarchos, a Greek shipowner with large holdings. He told newsmen in London that the charges against him are unfounded, and implied they were the outgrowth of a Republican political attack on a group of Democrats.

F. K. Kibbe Rites To Be Held Friday At Tacoma, Wash.

Services for Floyd F. Kibbe, 46, Tacoma, Wash., a former Nebraskan, will be Friday at Tacoma.

A native of Newkirk, Okla., he had lived in Central City and Palmer, Neb. He went to Tacoma in 1936.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred, a daughter, Mrs. Polly Jones, and a son, Wendell, all of Tacoma; his mother, Mrs. Mary Baker, and sisters, Mrs. Herbert Mitchell and Geneva Baker, all of Lincoln; four stepbrothers; five stepsisters and two grandchildren.

Rural 'Street Sign' Okay Is Requested

Cornhusker Rural Directory Services representatives have asked the Lancaster County Commissioners for permission to "erect and maintain" signposts at rural road intersections as part of their proposed directory service for the county.

H. H. Hall of Lincoln and Harold G. Boker of York explained the "signs identifying crossroads like city streets" would be part of a directory service making any farmhouse as easy to find as a city address.

The directory's grid system would identify each crossroad in miles and direction from a central point in the county, probably 10th and O where two major highways intersect, they said.

Each farmhouse would be given a "house number," Commissioners Chauncey E.

State Women Hit Cut-Rate Bus Rule

Women of the state are commencing to write to the State Railway Commission protesting against their action in refusing to allow bus lines to give half-fare rates to women traveling between any two towns in the state during mid-week when travel is light.

The action of the commission followed protests by businessmen in smaller towns and chambers of commerce who feared loss of trade to larger cities. The women vigorously assert that they will continue to journey to larger cities for bargains when offered, even though they have to pay full fare.

Barney and Chris Kuhner asked County Attorney Frederick Wagoner to furnish an opinion as to whether "it is within the county's powers to grant permission to a private directory service to erect and maintain directional signs bearing the name of the service on a public right of way."

'Some Progress' Reported On International 'A' Pool

Secrecy Blankets U.S. Talks

By ROBERT G. NIXON
WASHINGTON (INS)—A tight lid of secrecy has been placed on U. S. talks with Russia aimed at creation of an international atomic pool but American officials indicated Tuesday that "some slight progress" has been made.

These sources said that Secretary of State Dulles will renew soon his discussions with Georgi Zaroubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, on President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace proposal. Parallel conversations are scheduled at the same time among the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada and possibly France.

Dulles will report first to Mr. Eisenhower Wednesday on what progress was made on the President's proposal in the secretary's private conversations with V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, during the recent Big Four conference at Berlin.

Four Talks
Thus far Dulles has had four exchanges of views with the Russians—two each with Zaroubin and Molotov—on the plan the President unfolded in a dramatic speech before the United Nations last December.

The Dulles-Zaroubin meetings began soon after the Russians indicated interest in the proposal and expressed willingness to confer on it with the American government.

Ultimate objective of Mr. Eisenhower's plan, as now visualized, would be some workable method for controlling atomic weapons.

The President explained that the pooling of atomic materials and know-how for peacetime purposes would at least serve as a beginning of international co-operation in this field.

Some Headway
U. S. officials are extremely reluctant to discuss what progress has been made to date and it has been revealed a secrecy lid has been clamped on the talks. But the agreement by Molotov at Berlin for a continuation of the discussions in Washington was taken to mean that some headway is being made.

International News Service learned that the talks are still in what officials call the "procedural stage"—meaning that the United States and Russia have yet to agree on what actual proposals will be discussed when and if the way is cleared for full-dress negotiations.

New Officers Of Lincoln Traffic Club

Dotson Heads Lincoln Traffic Club

D. W. Dotson was elected president of the Lincoln Traffic Club at the group's meeting Tuesday night at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Also elected at the meeting of the traffic shippers and carriers were Don Oakley, first vice president; Neil Nelson, second vice president; and Jack Cunningham, re-named secretary-treasurer.

New members named to the club's board of directors were A. A. Wigg, G. W. Billmeyer, George J. Schaffer, J. F. Turrentine and Sam Crouse.

The more than 300 club members heard Gov. Robert Crosby say, in regard to his Operation Honesty, that he was "increasingly encouraged with the prospects of a full assessment with the resulting decrease in real estate taxes."

Following Gov. Crosby's address Bill Herring, manager of the Lincoln Chiefs said that he expected to have "a contending baseball club this season."

Teachers Need 50% Approval For Insurance

Lincoln teachers in the public school system with tenure or three years service will be required to marshal a 50 per cent vote to approve a group insurance plan for the system.

This provision was laid down Tuesday by the Board of Education as a primary requisite before the school system will hire clerks to handle the job of payroll deduction.

Supt. Steven Watkins received approval of a suggestion to the Board that the 50 per cent figure be adopted, which the Board said it would need before the plans were accepted. The Board's attorney, Willis Hecht, said such a requirement was well within the law as a reasonable rule of operation.

Watkins said that the 50 per cent who must approve the plan for its initiation does not mean that only teachers on tenure can join an insurance group plan after it first is approved.

The teachers, who at present do not come under the Social Security Act, have for the past few weeks been considering through a committee what type of insurance plan would be acceptable to the system. There have as yet, however, been no decisions.

Oklahoman Given 3 Years In Pen On Forgery Count

Lloyd Barton, 33, of Tulsa, Okla., was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by the Lancaster District Court after he pleaded guilty Tuesday to a forgery charge.

Barton was charged with uttering a forged check for $75 on Dec. 12, 1953, in Lincoln.

Dep. Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele told the court the check was one of six that Barton forged and cashed in Lincoln.

Scheele said the business-type check blanks were obtained from a Lincoln service station, where Barton was employed at the time.

In addition to the prison term, Judge Harry Spencer fined Barton $200 and ordered him to make restitution.

Barton admitted to the court serving 18 months of a 1-3 year term for breaking and entering given in 1947 from Saline County and having a juvenile record.

Air Raid Siren Fees

Approved By Council

Payment by the city of $1,380.12 share of the cost of four new air raid sirens for Lincoln has been approved by the City Council.

From its share of the cost, the city will take $825.97 to pay for installation of the sirens. The county will also pay $1,380.12 on the sirens, the state $2,760.24 and the federal government $5,520.49.

Seek Church Property

MADRID (AP) — The Spanish government sent to Parliament for approval Tuesday a bill to acquire all the property in Spain belonging to the Catholic bishops of Ireland at a cost of two million pesetas (about $50,000). Some of the property has belonged to the Irish church since the 18th Century, when Irish priests began training in Spain because of religious persecution in their homeland.

In Choosing A Chancellor

The time has come, it appears to this editor, to inform the people of Nebraska of some of the confusing, swirling and, in his judgment, unhealthy undercurrents complicating the business of choosing a new chancellor for the University of Nebraska.

Frankly, to some extent present controversy is the fruit of what this editor regards as an earlier unfortunate, ill-considered and regrettable decision by the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska in connection with the granting of a D.Ed. degree and its administration. It seems fantastic that in the heat of present discussion, common sense should be tossed out the window—the great, good and noble purposes of the University of Nebraska should become submerged to one issue and one issue alone—a faculty divided—and a public, naturally in no position to follow these details closely, confused.

Vision Of The Regents

This is no time for any small group within the Board of Regents itself or for any individual member of the Board of Regents to force down the throats of a very widespread element within the faculty a man who may be his "favorite candidate" as chancellor.

That was the initial mistake made in seeking a successor for Dr. Gustavson. One of the members of the board, we are informed, undertook to force a vote by the board itself to fill the vacancy created by Dr. Gustavson's resignation through the selection of Dr. George Rosenlof. There was feverish scurrying about the campus in the signing of an impressive, protest petition addressed to the regents by widespread elements within the faculty. The board in its wisdom did not permit the matter to come to a vote. Within common sense and reason, then at least, before the board took any step in the choice of a chancellor, it should have sought and obtained an expression from the faculty.

In its final responsibilities it was within the province of the Board of Regents, seeking assistance from the faculty, to take the position that since it held the final responsibility, that advice it got was not conclusive or the last word, important as it was to a harmonious, happy situation.

A Fundamental Issue

The basic fundamental issue involved in the board's decision to establish a D.Ed. degree at the University of Nebraska has not even been touched upon in newspaper discussion, again most unfortunate when it comes to public understanding.

The form of organization of the universities throughout the United States differs rather widely. For state universities the organization is provided by the laws of the state.

Here at Nebraska the general educational work is in the College of Arts and Sciences, the professional work in the several professional schools, and the Graduate College is made up of the mature, qualifying scholars from the faculties of all the other colleges

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The Board of Regents has announced a policy of privacy in the screening of men under consideration by it in the filling of the job of chancellor. This newspaper has no objection to that. But whether the confidence which the regents desire—a confidence to which this newspaper cheerfully and gladly subscribes—is justified will be determined entirely by the spirit of dedicated service upon which the board embarks in its ultimate choice.

In the very simplest language, the board will justify its actions and its decisions only on the basis of what actually it does. We think that the meetings of the Board of Regents should be open to the newspapers. We think that when the meetings are thrown open to the newspapers and the board requests that information given to the newspapers be held in confidence until the proper time comes, within the judgment of the board, for publication, there is nothing unreasonable about that request. It happens every day in the year all over the United States. The House Ways and Means Committee is now engaged in drafting a tax bill which will affect every taxpayer and his dependents in the United States. The doors of its meeting place are barred to newspapers. Even the keyhole is plugged. All the public knows about that tax bill is an announcement made by old Dan Reed or some of his associates. That bill will go to the floor of the House if Reed has his way, without the privilege of submitting an amendment to the bill as drawn in the committee. There is public business back of closed doors in a big way.

The board may or may not be aware of it, but it could by its own action confirm some of the suspicions that contribute to uneasiness over the chancellorship. If the board craves privacy, then the board in its final decision must justify the privacy which it asks. It will not justify its position by pouring fuel upon an already blazing controversy. It will not justify privacy if within its own ranks there develops a spirit of telling an element within the faculty where to get off simply because the board does legally have final responsibility for the administration of the university.

To people who are looking at the long-range role of the University of Nebraska, all of this is so distasteful and so much out of place in the life of a great university. About the most tragic thing that could happen is for the regents to confirm the suspicions which in reality have been responsible for some of the undercurrents for the present controversy over procedure in the choosing of a chancellor.

within the University of Nebraska.

The Legislature of Nebraska vested the control and issuance of advanced graduate degrees in the Graduate College through its dean and graduate faculty, in which all the college faculties are represented. To provide a clear, distinct line of demarcation, the control of professional degrees granted by the University of Nebraska is in the professional colleges. Some universities have graduate professional divisions set up with each college, such as Columbia Teachers College. But we are a smaller institution here at Nebraska, necessarily operating on a less elaborate and expensive basis.

Worthy Of Thought

The move to establish the D. Ed. degree in the Teachers College is a departure. It would appear to set up a second college within the organization of the University of Nebraska to issue advanced degrees in competition with the long-established, deeply rooted Graduate College of the university, which has functioned virtually throughout the life of the university itself. The question whether the D.Ed. is a graduate degree or a professional degree can be argued from here to eternity. If it is not a graduate degree, it should have some content to make it so. The higher rating and the higher salaries which automatically go with it should call for something more than a mere title of honor. Nebraska should look long and the regents should have given much more study, perhaps, before incurring an additional expense of competing graduate organizations within the university.

Nebraska's Leadership

Now, that is one, one of several undercurrents in Nebraska's search for a new chancellor.

And for what does the board look in its hunt for a chancellor? The man it selects occupies the key educational position in the state. It is for him, from his towering qualifications of leadership, from the qualities of his scholarship, from his administrative capacity that come the inspiration and encouragement to a faculty entrusted with preparing the leaders of the several professions and the many occupations contributing to the future of Nebraska. It is to this institution to which we look in part for our lawyers, our doctors, our engineers, our agriculturists, our scientists and our other numerous specialists and other professions and vocations. The university is the major research institution of the state. It must comprehend in its scope of interest and endeavor every worthy aspect of our society.

Its Heavy Burdens

Now, that is a very heavy responsibility. That in itself sets forth graphically why the regents in the performance of their duties should seek faculty advice, gifted advice, from all sources of qualified competency within the teaching faculty of the University of Nebraska.

The legal responsibility for the selection of a chancellor certainly is vested in the regents. In the discharge of that responsibility, it is hardly conceivable that the regents would not seek the most trustworthy counsel in selecting a chancellor. Who would know more about this highly complicated and technical institution known as a university? If that faculty is not in a position to judge the qualities of leadership that are so much needed and so terribly hard to find, who would be?

Return To Reason

Are we going to continue in futile dispute to kick common sense all over the campus? Or are we in high spirit going to endeavor to find the best man available for the chancellorship?

This newspaper has stated its position clearly. It is willing and eager to confer upon the Board of Regents of the University of Nebraska the privacy which it regards as vital in the search for a chancellor. It does not think it takes a lot of newspaper enterprise to snap pictures of men who are not even, in the commonly accepted sense of the word, candidates for the chancellorship—or to interview men, reluctant and hesitant men, who might desire the simple privilege of looking over the physical plant of this university, exploring its atmosphere, before reaching in their own minds any decision as to whether they might want to come here—should they be invited. That is as easy as rolling off a log. And in the last analysis, that neither determines whether the man who becomes chancellor is a towering, outstanding figure—or something else again.

All of this is a rather sad story. It is not contributing to the good health of the University of Nebraska.

Color Value

Small boys mostly yearn for the life of the whooping, hard riding, feather mounted, tomahawk swinging Indian. For them it's the life. But sometimes the less imaginative adults have moments of wistfulness, too, though not for the tomahawk kind of life. For instance, the other day the palefaced read in their paper that the noble Red men, specifically the Shoshone and Arapahoe tribesmen on the Wind River reservation, are about to receive $1,605,335 of white man's wampum just for being Indians.

Langer Pays Back GOP, Warren Is The Target

WASHINGTON—In order to understand Wild Bill Langer's battle against the confirmation of Earl Warren as Chief Justice of the United States you have to know something about one of the most independent, unpredictable, colorful, and cantankerous members of the U.S. Senate. You also have to know something about that little motive called revenge, never quite absent in politics.

First, let it be noted that this writer, who predicted May 24, 1953, that Earl Warren would be appointed Chief Justice, believes he should have been confirmed long ago. I disagree most emphatically with both Langer and my contemporary, Westbrook Pegler, who claims Warren is not fit to sit on the Supreme Court because he once wrote a letter to James P. Trullinger, head of the musicians union.

Warren has one of the finest records of any man in public life today, as has been noted time after time in this column; and the Republicans would have won had they nominated him for President in 1948 instead of Tom Dewey.

However, politics being what it is, and the Senate having been given the power to pass on judicial nominations, let's take a look at the motives of the colorful and unpredictable senator from North Dakota. They were two:

Motive No. 1 was to show some of his colleagues what it's like to smear unsubstantiated charges on the congressional record, as McCarthy has been doing. Few Republican senators have protested when McCarthy poured all sorts of reckless and unverified charges into the record against Gen. George Marshall, Dean Acheson, and scores of others. Langer, who has never gone along with McCarthy on these, figured that what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Motive No. 2 was to retaliate against his fellow Republicans for what they did to him.

LANGER DANGLES

Not many people know it, but when the Republican Senate convened one year ago, Langer was the only Republican not permitted to take his seat except conditionally. Sen. McCarthy was permitted to take his seat, despite one of the most devastating reports ever submitted against a fellow senator.

But when a group of Republicans from North Dakota, headed by Joe Bridston of Grand Forks, came to Washington to protest Langer's election, various Republican senators did their best backstage to unseat him.

Finally, Langer was allowed to assume a precarious position as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, but under the embarrassing position of having its staff investigate him. For al-

Time For A New Look At U.S. Foreign Policy

BERLIN—In the aftermath of the Berlin conference one thing, above all, is imperative. That is a "new look" at American foreign and military policy.

The American troop commitments in Western Europe and particularly in Germany cannot be reduced. If the conclusions to be drawn from the conference are faced up to, then there should be an increase in the strength the United States contributes to the common defense of the West in the key area of Western Europe.

Now would be a fitting time to announce that the mechanized division, at first scheduled to come and then cancelled, will after all be sent. Such an announcement, more than anything else, would convince Europeans of America's intention of going through with the full commitment on a common defense for an indefinite period. It would be a big incentive to bring France closer to ratification of the European Defense Community treaty.

A re-examination is necessary because the "Tiffany window" theory to explain the presence of American troops may no longer be valid.

Under that theory if taken troops were attacked—if Tiffany's window were broken—then the whole machine for the defense of Western Europe would be set in motion. But under the "new look" of the Eisenhower administration, with the American defense establishment scaled back, such an attack would presumably mean instant retaliation with atomic weapons—that is to say, all-out atomic war which would destroy Western Europe for all time.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is credited by most western observers with having done a superb job. Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov had a towering reputation as the ablest diplomat of his time and his new position as one of the three top bosses in the Kremlin would give him a new latitude. The Molotov who could pull last-minute tricks out of his hat and stall a conference indefinitely inspired awe and even dread in Dulles and the other Westerners.

At the end of the conference Dulles had taken the role of Jack the giant killer. Whether the Molotov reputation was more legend than real or whether the Soviet foreign minister was on his good behavior, his barefaced tactic of demanding that the West disband its defense did not get far.

The final score of the conference—the pluses and minuses—will long be argued. But the situation that now confronts the West is precisely one that it is most difficult for the West to counter. The contest between the most a year, Republicans looked upon McCarran of Nevada, a Democrat, as more the chairman of this key, judge-making committee than was Langer.

LANGER'S WORST ENEMY

Meanwhile, the Eisenhower administration appointed as assistant secretary of the interior, Fred Aandahl, the man who not only had run against Langer for the Senate but who had called him a Communist. Aandahl even got a $1,000 contribution from Roy Cullen, the Texas oil millionaire, to defeat Langer. But when he failed, the Eisenhower administration kicked Langer in the political shins by elevating Aandahl to one of the key spots in the Interior Department.

These were some of the reasons why the lone-wolf senator from North Dakota bided his time until definitely entrenched as chairman of the Judiciary Committee. By January of this year, he knew no one could de-throne him. So he proceeded to pick the second biggest target in Washington, the Chief Justice of the United States, in order to show disdain for his own Republican party.

LANGER-GO-AROUND

Here are sidelights on the man the GOP leadership will have to cope with for five more years as head of the Judiciary Committee.

Langer once collected $25,000 from Boston columnist Bill Cunningham following a libel suit. The lawyer who collected the money for him was Joseph B. Keenan, who when assistant attorney general had once convicted Langer for conspiring to solicit political contributions from federal employees. Langer was sentenced to 18 months in jail, but never served. He appealed, went to trial two more times, and was cleared. He and Keenan, who prosecuted him, became close friends.

Justice Warren will probably have no better friend than Langer after he is confirmed. Langer was elected governor of North Dakota immediately after his conviction. He is the only senator who boasts in his own, self-penned congressional biography that he was arrested. Langer's court troubles caused the Senate to scrutinize his election carefully the first time elected in 1940, but thanks to the votes of friendly Democrats, he was seated. Langer has voted as much with the Democrats as with the Republicans, and in 1950 seriously considered leaving the Republican party altogether. It was his key vote on the Judiciary Committee which defeated the 1947 move to probe the Kansas City vote frauds.

(Copyright, 1954, by Bell Syndicate)

two sides of a divided world will go on for years. If the evidence out of the conference means anything—the greater Russian amiability, the relaxation of minor restrictions—there will be no open provocations such as the blockade that once cut off Berlin.

On the contrary the likelihood is for more superficial gestures of amiability along with a soothing propaganda line of peace and goodwill. In other words, it will be not so much a cold war as a cold peace. And under those circumstances the strong temptation in the West will be to relax and once again to enjoy the luxury of mutual name-calling and the old illusion of isolation. One may be sure that the Communists all over the world will do everything they can to encourage that kind of disintegration.

Various explanations have been current for Molotov's persistence in bringing Red China into an Asian conference. One theory is that the Communist Chinese have turned on the heat full force and Moscow must deliver. The growing resentment in Peking had somehow to be appeased.

Another theory that fits with the new Russian tactic is that Moscow is directly and even urgently concerned with ending the war in Indo-China. As the immediate spur of the war is withdrawn, America will lose interest. Communist infiltration and intimidation can achieve what Ho Chi-Minh's guerrillas have failed to achieve.

Whether a negotiated truce will come out of the Geneva conference no one can say at this point. The French are pressing very hard for such a truce. If the West means to go to sleep as soon as the use of the shock troops, then this will be disaster and the loss of Southeast Asia is at least probable.

What could follow a negotiated truce is a demonstration that the United States has the determination, the capacity, the resources to carry on a prolonged contest in a cold peace; that we understand the necessity to give far-reaching aid and guidance to peoples emerging from colonialism and seeking independence; that we realize this cannot be a matter of sporadic gestures but must be sustained for many years even at great cost and at least a little sacrifice.

Quickly it must be added that recent events do not encourage the belief that this will happen. But perhaps it is not too late to perceive that we cannot always count on the prods and pricks of a cold war or the imminent threat of a hot war to maintain the security and freedom of our half of the world.

RAILROAD TITANS

Fight For New York Central

NEW YORK (INS)—The bare-knisted battle between "railroad titans" Robert R. Young and William White for control of the $2,000,000,000 New York Central system reached the slugfest stage when White swung a haymaker at Young's ideas on how the 10,700-mile railroad should be "modernized."

White, the $120,000-a-year president of Central, declared he wasn't "sold"—as yet—on "Train X," one of Young's pet ideas on modernization.

"Train X" is a low-slung, light-weight train developed in Europe for high-speed passenger service. It has not yet been tried commercially on American railroads.

Young, former chairman of Chesapeake and Ohio, promises to make startling innovations in Central's plant if he achieves his avowed aim to gain control of the railroad.

White doesn't see eye-to-eye with Young on "Train X" and other ideas on railroad efficiency. White wants to proceed "prudently." He is a bit more conservative than the spectacular Young who created a sensation in 1945 when he ran advertisements saying:

"A hog can cross the country without changing trains—you can't!"

Young's campaign brought about uninterrupted coast-to-coast train service, doing away with the necessity of a lay-over in Chicago.

White, in an exclusive interview with International News Service, made it apparent he is familiar with "Train X." In fact, he said, it is the Central's purpose—in due time—to experiment with such a train between Cleveland and Cincinnati.

"What I think Young means when he talks about modernizing New York Central is starting to operate what he calls 'Train X,'" White asserted. "Such a train doesn't exist."

Religion In The Senate

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In regard to "Political Prayers"—the United States Constitution guarantees freedom of worship to every individual as individuals. But when a public official or officials lend the dignity and prestige of their office to the promotion of religion or religions, it seems to me they violate their oath to support the Constitution.

The Senate body is not above the Constitution. And when its members lend the dignity and prestige of this deliberative body to a clergyman to further religion or religions by offering prayer in the legislative chamber and for this clergyman to capitalize further on the dignity and prestige of the United States Senate by newspaper articles promoting religion, it seems to me that both the clergyman and the members of the Senate violate the law. And when an editor or editors aid and abet this violation, they become an accessory to the violation.

It seems to me that since the United States Constitution prohibits the promotion of religion of any kind in our public schools, it should go double for the U.S. Senate. And I think the Senate would do well to follow the precedent of our founding fathers and dispense with the services of a chaplain, and that the editors of the Sunday paper remove the feature, "Spines of the Spirit," by Frederick Brown Harris, Chaplain, U.S. Senate.

RALPH E. ALLEN

Editor's Note: This editor is convinced that a Senate chaplain is a fitting part of Senate procedure, wholly in harmony with Constitutional requirements, and surely reflective of American thinking on the subject.

Political Emphasis

DuBois, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Throughout all of this controversy over our state Legislature, it has been perfectly obvious that it is the strict followers of one political party or another who are clamoring for the return of the two-house political system.

They contend that we need a system of checks and balances to secure better government. I have yet to be convinced that an assembly of politically bound legislators can do better work than can a group unencumbered by petty politics. And as for checks and balances, that is plain nonsense. Could the disgusting display of horse play indulged in by our last bicameral which convened, if memory serves me right, in 1935 be classed as checks and balances? Regardless of their former political affiliation, we aim to select the best men suited for our state government and I see no reason why the present membership of our Unicameral needs increased. I am sure the present number of legislators is adequate to dispose efficiently of the tasks placed before them.

Unthinking individuals have blamed our Unicameral for the rising cost of state government. In view of the rising cost of everything, it would be an insult to children to call this childish. Let us keep our Unicameral. I am sure it has fulfilled our late Sen. George Norris' fondest dreams. Too much emphasis is placed on politics, much of it hollow and meaningless. It has no place in state government.

EMIL STEPANEK

ROBERT R. YOUNG
"A Memo To stockholders . . ."

The principle of the Talgo train now operating in Spain. "It's a low, light-weight unit with two wheels at its rear end and the front resting on the unit ahead."

"The construction of the car is somewhat similar to the construction of an airplane fuselage. These units are low-slung and they ride well."

"We on New York Central are interested in them because modern-day passenger cars cost too much money. That's why we joined the Chesapeake and Ohio a year ago in a research project looking to the development of some kind of a lighter-weight passenger car that would meet public acceptance and the standards of safety."

"The answer to that hasn't yet been found, but when it is, it is our purpose to experiment with such a train between Cleveland and Cincinnati."

One of the cracks Young took at White in their verbal battle was this: "If White is as good as he thinks he is, why did he insist on a 10-year contract as president?"

Young went on: "I never had a contract and don't want one. If I'm not good enough to hold on by my own merits, I ought to be fired. That goes for all big executives and there's no reason why White should be an exception."

The Central's president admitted, that he resents Young's "imperious demand" that he

WILLIAM WHITE
"Train X? It doesn't exist. . ."

(Young) be put in the driver's seat.

"I think I'm running a mighty fine railroad," said White. "What's the matter with our 20th Century Limited—the best train in the country?"

He quickly reeled off names of other crack trains on his line, such as the Commodore Vanderbilt, the Empire State Express, the Southwestern Ltd., the Ohio State Ltd., the Detroit and the New England States, Ltd.

Young, meanwhile, was in another skyscraper only a few blocks away directing his proxy battle. In "a memo to New York Central stockholders," Young was currently saying in advertisements that "If you have any nominations for your new ownership board of directors to be elected May 26, 1954, please advise."

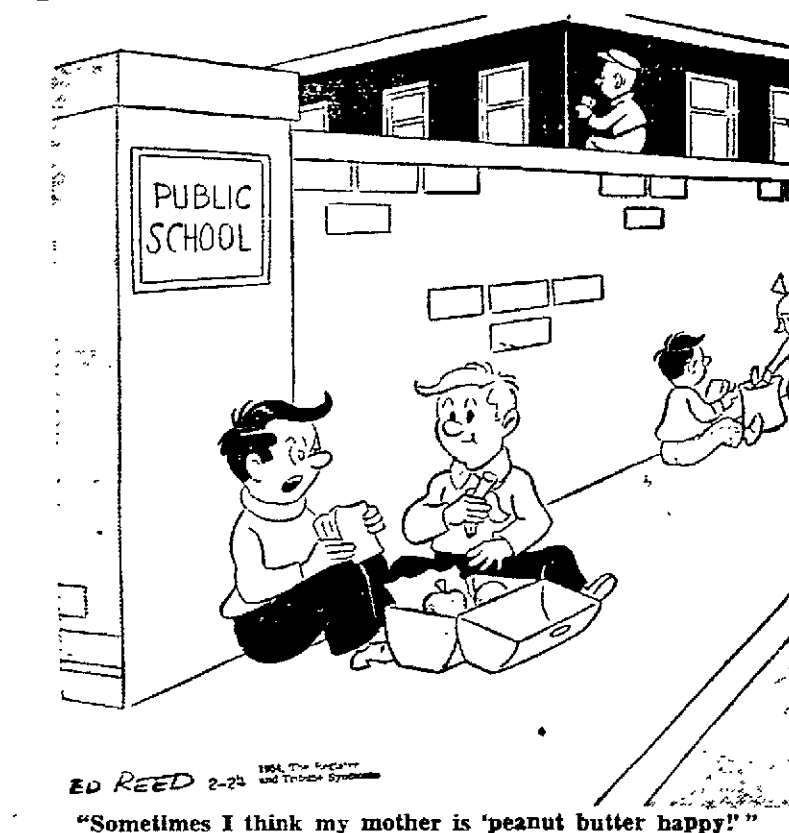

Some Wall Street observers say this is no mere pop-gun shot but a quiet tip and suggestion that some of the real big stockholders of Central to come over to his side.

The ambitious and imaginative Young is said to have plans far beyond the big job of running Central—if he can make it.

Young thinks it is absurd to have 130 railroads operating separately in the United States. His objective, he said, is to amalgamate these 130 roads into 15 or 20 systems in which operation and financial direction will be so arranged as to "avoid duplication."

Yank PWs 'Kenneled Like Dogs,' Forced To Dig Their Own Graves

WASHINGTON (AP)—A military inquiry board was told Tuesday that Communists in Korea kenneled American prisoners like dogs and forced them to dig their own graves in efforts to obtain war crime "confessions."

But even after "confessions" were wrung from some of the men, two witnesses related, most of those behind the barbed wire refused to believe them.

Three Marine Corps generals and an admiral are taking testimony to decide whether any charges should be lodged against Col. Frank H. Schwable, 45, of Arlington, Va., a Marine Corps officer.

Had Sympathy
Schwable signed a germ warfare confession while a prisoner of war, but repudiated it as soon as he was released, declaring it was forced out of him by brutal mistreatment.

One of Tuesday's witnesses, a

Marine flier decorated for courage and fortitude while a prisoner of war, said he sympathized deeply with Schwable after learning that he had cracked under the Red pressure.

"I had the utmost sympathy for Col. Schwable," Lt. Col. William G. Thrash, a onetime Georgia Tech football player, testified.

Thrash, who comes from Atlanta, said he didn't know how close he himself came to cracking under months of solitary confinement, mistreatment and constant "mental harassment." Asked by a member of the inquiry court if he ever felt near the breaking point, the flier answered:

Clung To Hope
"I don't know. I don't believe I ever displayed any emotion in front of the Chinese. Sometimes by myself at night I had severe nervous spells, sweating and so forth. I fluctuated between frustration, indignation and despair."

Thrash said he always clung to the hope that "somehow I'd get out" and he added in a low voice: "I believe I strengthened my religion."

Thrash himself signed a document demanded by his Communist captors—a confession he was responsible for organizing a sort of underground resistance movement among Allied soldiers in the same camp with him.

To the Communists, this was a serious crime, he said. The Marine Corps awarded him the Legion of Merit last Jan. 11 for "exceptional meritorious conduct" as a war prisoner and praised him for organizing his fellow prisoners on a military basis.

Another witness, Lt. (JG) Andrew L. Riker, 25, of Manchester, Conn., testified the Reds hampered at him 10 hours a day in an unsuccessful effort to make him confess to germ warfare.

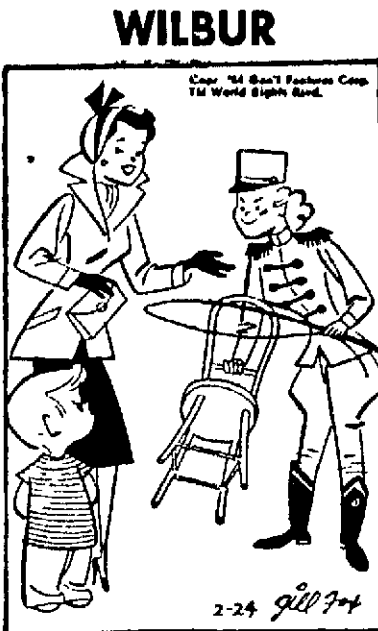

"I don't know how long I could have kept it up," the naval officer said. "It lasted only a week or a week and a half. Before this grilling was over I broke down crying—I didn't know what to do."

Sgt. Franklin H. Hall, 20, of Pasadena, Tex., testified that he saw Schwable in December, 1952, at least four months after Schwable was captured, and overheard him tell another prisoner, "They've been working on me about germ warfare but I haven't told them anything yet."

Hall said he thought Schwable's confession was brought about by "strictly psychological and mental" torture such as he had experienced himself.

Midnight Walks
The young Texan related that on three occasions he was taken on midnight walks and forced to dig his own grave. Another time, he said, he was deprived of water for four days.

Sgt. Robert A. Strachan, 27, whose parents live in Windsor, Ont., corroborated testimony that Schwable defied his captors for months before signing the false confession.

"Wilbur, this is the baby sitter... She's heard about you from the neighbors."

Strachan, now stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., said he and the colonel were confined to lean-tos about the size of dog houses and that Schwable almost never was allowed even to open his door.

Several times when interrogators got rough with Schwable, Strachan testified, the officer "let out a howl and told them to go to hell."

Eastern Wheat Benefited 'Immeasurably'

Outlook Is 'Good'

Wheat in the Eastern half of the winter wheat belt received "immeasurable benefit" from last week-end's rain and snow, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said Tuesday.

Wind damage prior to the rain was slight and the present outlook is "good," the report continued.

But the Western half of the state received almost no precipitation last week.

"There were several windy days and winds did considerable damage in the Panhandle north of the Platte River and on the lighter soils in Southwestern Nebraska," the Department said.

Early planted wheat in Southwestern Nebraska that had a heavy growth is reported "very good," however, and most of it is greening up. Some of the wheat in that area is being pastured.

Other comment: Rail shipments of potatoes in the North Platte Valley are not much more than half of what they were a year ago. Movement has been slow because of the low prices.

Movement of hay into Southern Nebraska was not as large as expected because the mild, open winter reduced feed requirements. There is considerable surplus of hay and feed over the state.

A few reports indicate some damage and possible winter kill to alfalfa and grasses because of the lack of moisture.

Heavy demand for bred sows and gilts continues. January shipments of cattle and calves to country points showed a considerable increase, while total shipments to the country points for 1953 were down 21 per cent.

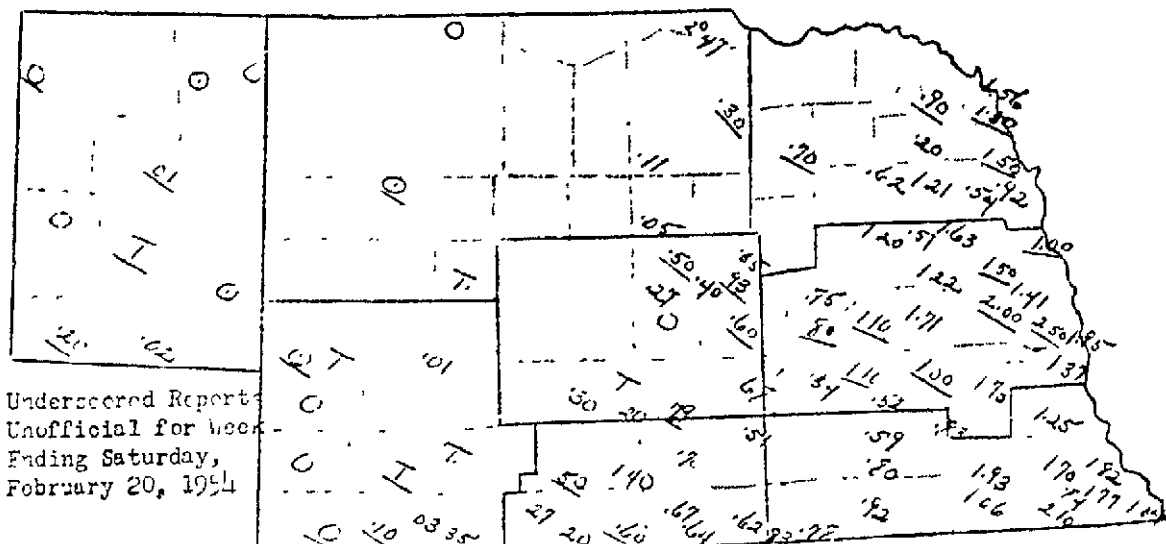

Shipments of sheep and lambs to country points likewise were up in January, while shipments for 1953 were down.

Wheat Crosses Show Promise, Agronomists Inform Grainmen

OMAHA (AP)—Research agronomists have reported two wheat crosses that show considerable promise, but the relatively mild winters of the past few years have not provided a good test of their cold tolerance, the Nebraska Grain Improvement Association has been told.

Dr. Virgil Johnson, a University of Nebraska staff member, said the two varieties are crosses of Pawnee and Cheyenne and of Ponca and Cheyenne.

Considerably more testing must be done before they are ready for release, he said.

Support Program Opened For Every Wheat Producer.

The Department of Agriculture has, in effect, opened the door to its acreage allotment program to all wheat producers, regardless of their intentions toward the program when they planted wheat last fall.

It has announced that wheat producers in all states will be permitted to bring their wheat into the wheat support program by either plowing under, pasturing off or cutting wheat on all excess acres. Thus if a farmer who planted 100 acres of wheat last fall decides to go under the program and he finds the amount of his acreage allotment is 50 acres, he can still come under the program by cutting out 50 acres before the crop reaches maturity.

Producers will now be able to bring their acreage into compliance with allotments and thus avoid the quota penalty and loans of eligibility for available price support. The program restrictions still apply to producers with a minimum of 15 acres in wheat or less.

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—Fire ravaged the Speer Southside Market, a grocery and retail-wholesale butcher shop here, causing damage estimated at between $35,000 and $50,000.

Contents of the store were a total loss.

One fireman, Matt Martin, was overcome by smoke and was given oxygen. Several firemen were made ill briefly by fumes from ruptured freezer units.

The fire was believed to have started in the partitioned basement. Heat and smoke kept firemen from reaching the source. It was the second major fire

Temporary Repairs Ordered For Wallace School

WALLACE, Neb. (P) — The Wallace school, which Monday was ordered closed by the state fire marshal's office, will be temporarily repaired and will be reopened in about a week, it was announced at a public meeting.

A decision still will have to be made as to whether to remodel the old building, or replace it.

The Musgrave Construction Co., North Platte, was awarded a contract to reinforce the building with iron rods as a temporary measure. This will cost approximately $200.

The fire marshal's office will insist, however, that the building no longer be used in its present state after the end of this school year.

About 200 persons and the school board attended the meeting.

Special Election Favored

C. C. Coursey, North Platte architect, told the assembly that although the front half of the 37-year-old structure could be salvaged the measure would be only temporary and the revamped building probably would last only 10 to 15 years. The cost of remodeling would be about 50 to 60 per cent of the cost of a new building, he said.

On a show of hands, the crowd indicated it favored a special election.

School board members said the school district, 65-R, has a valuation of $2,895,505 the second highest in the county except for North Platte, but that its tax levy is one of the lowest in the county at 16.58 mills.

The building houses both the grade and high schools—a total of 175 pupils. The area was restricted last fall and 25 students were added to the enrollment.

The office of state fire Marshal E. C. Iverson determined that structural cracks in the east and west walls of the building make it unsafe.

Officers Will Return Gates Trio To State

TULSA, Okla. (P) — Three Omaha brothers arrested here Sunday on Nebraska burglary warrants have waived extradition to that state, police said Tuesday.

One of the trio, Wilbur Gates, 23, is in a hospital with a shotgun wound in the chest and is scheduled to undergo surgery for removal of an eye struck by one of the pellets.

He had been shot before local officers seized him and his brothers at a tourist court. The others are Lawrence Gates, 40, and Jerold Gates, 19. Both are in jail awaiting the arrival of Dubois, Neb., officers to return them there.

Detective Lt. Earl Beddoe said Wilbur Gates would be in no condition to travel for a while. The prisoner's condition was reported by hospital attendants as "all right" Tuesday.

The brothers have refused to say how Wilbur Gates was shot. However, police said they were informed from Nebraska that the warrants were issued in connection with a Dubois liquor store burglary during which the owner fired a shotgun at the intruders.

New U. S. Transmitter In Germany Cuts Moscow Range To 200 Miles

...Red Jamming Virtually Impossible

By KENNETH A. UNGERMAN
WASHINGTON (INS) — The administration's top word-war strategist said Tuesday that a new million-watt U.S. transmitter in Germany beams programs to Russia has cut the range of Radio Moscow to within 200 miles of the Soviet capital.

Theodore C. Streibert, director of the U.S. Information Agency, said the Voice of America, station at Munich, operating on the same frequency as Moscow Radio, overpowered the Soviet station and made jamming virtually impossible.

He explained that if the Russians try to jam the Munich station, one of the three most powerful in the world belonging to the United States, they jam their own transmitter as well.

Drastic Steps

The overseas information chief told International News Service that recent reports from satellite escapes clearly indicated the Communists are taking drastic steps to plug the ears of the Iron Curtain peoples.

He pointed out that the Czech Communist government is installing a direct wire radio transmission to peddle Red propaganda in the hope of counteracting effectiveness of free world broadcasting.

Streibert said that "truth" had been found to be the most devastating weapon in the propaganda war and that factual reporting was effective in destroying the Kremlin's "big lie."

He stressed: "We have learned the most effective form of broadcasting is factual news without propaganda overtones, supplemented by political and news commentaries."

Only Contact

Streibert said Communist officials in the satellite states arrest and bring criminal charges against anyone who is "guilty" of spreading news from the Voice of America.

Nevertheless, he added, the Voice and Radio Free Europe are the only contact these people have with the outside world and "they continue to spread the news by word of mouth."

Streibert explained the information regarding the number of Russian listeners to the American broadcast is sketchy. He said reports indicate a large number of Russians listen but are afraid to discuss the fact with their closest friends.

The information chief asserted that the Voice has been successful in defeating Russian jamming by bombarding the Communist orbit with simultaneous broadcasts from 33 transmitters located all over the world.

In addition, he said, USA operates a mobile transmitter on a Coast Guard ship in the Mediterranean, which constantly moves its position to complicate Soviet jamming attempts.

Woodmen Accident Has Big Year

Record gains for production of insurance, premiums in force, assets, and benefits disbursed were chalked up in 1953 by the Woodmen Accident Company.

President E. J. Faulkner reported at the firm's 64th annual meeting that on Dec. 31, 1953, assets of the company amounted to $4,993,394.61, a gain of $353,339.53 over the previous year.

Premium income totaled $6,243,934.13, a gain of $509,155.95, establishing a new record in the company's history.

Remarkings on the company's activity, Faulkner said, "The company's unusually strong financial position is illustrated by the fact that as of the year's end, $4.99 was held in assets for each $1.67 of liabilities." He also described the company's aggressive program for 1954.

S. Burnham Yates of Lincoln and Thomas H. Wake of Seward were elected new members of the board of directors. Members re-elected include the following: E. J. Faulkner, W. S. Henrion, T. C. Woods, R. L. Spangler, W. T. White, G. P. Abel and H. J. Requisite.

... 'Plateau Is Near'—Labor Chief

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in a major speech Tuesday night said the nation was gradually readjusting its economic scale from a wartime peak but was not "going from boom to bust."

His speech was given for a Flint Republican rally and a nation-wide broadcast.

Mitchell said:

"We are coming down from the artificially-high peak made by war and inflation to a plateau—and we are almost there. There may be a slight, but not significant, increase in unemployment for the next two months. Then for another few months, we will rest at that level."

"This is part of a necessary readjustment that we could only postpone, not avoid. And it is my view that we are better off getting it over with fast, rather than adopting schemes to postpone it, which would themselves make the adjustment sharper, more painful, and more protracted when it does occur."

Works Projects

To this extent, he said, he was not in favor of public works projects, as advocated by CIO and AFL leaders, at this time.

He said President Eisenhower has already stated he is prepared to start public works projects if the unemployment situation worsens. Mitchell said he supported Eisenhower's stand.

Mitchell made his address after a whirlwind tour of industrial plants in the Flint area. He visited General Motors Corp.'s AC spark plug, Chevrolet and Terstedt divisions in an effort to obtain a first hand look at problems of auto industry workers.

Mitchell said the Eisenhower administration's program would be beneficial to labor and the economic progress of the nation.

"The President," he said, "has asked that unemployment benefits be restored in all of the states in accordance with their own wage levels and be revised upwards and coverage extended whenever necessary."

Program Studied

"It is my understanding that here in Michigan your unemployment checks are the third highest in the nation and that the entire program is currently being studied in accordance with the President's suggestion."

Mitchell said the Eisenhower administration's actions in urging "a forward looking health and medical plan, housing program, atomic energy program, reduction in individual income taxes, and the halting of inflation, all

The Minden Chamber of Commerce Tuesday withdrew its protest against the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company's request for a rate increase.

The chamber wrote the Railway Commission that a company representative appeared and explained "the many reasons why a rate increase is necessary."

The telephone company representative asked the chamber to "reconsider" its action, the letter said.

The Minden group was the second to reverse its action. The Homer Commercial Club last week withdrew its protest under similar circumstances, after a company representative had appeared to "explain" the request for the rate increase.

Ray Ogier Appointed To Road Group

Gov. Crosby announced Tuesday that he will appoint Ray Ogier, North Platte, to succeed W. O. Collett, also of North Platte, on the State Highway Advisory Commission when Collett leaves the Commission April 1.

Collett recently was named state director for the Farmers Home Administration, effective in April. He is resigning his 6-year appointment to the Highway Commission on April first.

The governor said Ogier will attend the Commission's March meeting with Collett to familiarize himself with the proceedings. Ogier is an automobile dealer with agencies in North Platte and McCook, and also is in the oil business in both cities. He lived at McCook at one time and is a former president of the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers' Association.

Council To Study Light Department Operational Costs

A statement of the operational costs of the city light department has been requested by the City Council to help solve the problem of a requested salary increase for department plant employees.

"If we are going into a new wage scale," commented Mayor Clark Jeary, "then the Council wants to see the effects of any proposed increase on the profit and loss statement."

The Council will review this week past operations of the department. The wage matter, said Jeary, might possibly be settled by next Monday.

The employees at the city's A Street power plant have asked for increases totaling about $15,000 a year. While in line with increases recently given by Consumers Public Power District and the Nebraska Public Power System, several Council members have objected to the granting of increases on the basis of competitive scales only.

Consumers Operating Personnel Meet Today

Approximately 90 of Consumers Public Power District's key operating personnel will attend the district's three-day annual superintendents' meeting and school of instruction at the Cornhusker Hotel, Wednesday through Friday.

The group will study and analyze more important phases of utility and operation aimed at increasing service efficiency to customers of the district.

Consumers' General Manager, R. L. Schacht, will deliver the opening address. P. T. Baird, operating superintendent, will be chairman of the opening session.

A lease between the city and Julian J. Buck and John Garrett Hartwell has been approved by the city Council for the use by Buck and Hartwell of approximately one foot of city property along the west side of 15th north of O.

The lease is to permit use of the east wall of the Esquire Theater building at the northwest corner of 15th and O. The wall extends about one foot out over the sidewalk.

The building is to be remodeled into use as a retail store.

5 QUICK FACTS FROM THE READER'S DIGEST ARTICLE "What About Anti-Enzyme Toothpastes?" December, 1953

- Reader's Digest says—The most effective anti-enzyme toothpaste ingredient tested was developed in the Colgate-Palmolive Company laboratories.
(It's Colgate's miracle ingredient Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate)—found in no other leading toothpaste!)
- Reader's Digest says—One of the foremost dental authorities in the world proved that this ingredient binds itself effectively to the teeth—holds acid formation below the decay level in 95 per cent of cases tested.
(Unlike ordinary toothpaste ingredients, effective only for minutes, this protection won't rinse off—won't wear off—all day or all night!)
- Reader's Digest says—Even 12 hours after brushing, this new Colgate anti-enzyme discovery continues to guard against the enzymes that cause tooth decay.
(Thus, just daily morning and night brushings guard against decay-causing enzymes every minute of the day and night!)
- Reader's Digest says—In clinical tests, supervised by leading dental authorities—for a full year—people who used ordinary toothpastes averaged almost two and a half times more new cavities than those who used New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol (Sodium N-Lauroyl Sarcosinate). In fact, of the group using New Colgate's, 4 out of 5 developed no new cavities at all!
(A group of distinguished dentists examined this evidence and agreed—New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol gives the surest protection against tooth decay ever offered by any toothpaste!)
- Reader's Digest says—New Colgate Dental Cream is the only toothpaste with clinical proof of its effectiveness in actually reducing the formation of new cavities.

TOWN TALK

THERE'S plenty to chatter about this morning—parties, some homecomings — and an announcement of a marriage we think you might find interesting—So — supposing we start the day by telling you that the marriage of Mrs. Bertha Gaylord of Lincoln, to W. H. Brokaw, also of Lincoln, took place on Tuesday, Feb. 23, in Marysville, Kan.

The ceremony was solemnized at the Marysville Methodist Church, and the lines were read by the Rev. Bert L. Story of Lincoln who was accompanied to Marysville for the ceremony by Mrs. Story. Mrs. Brokaw is a past president of Chapter V, PEO, and is vice president of Films Forum. She is active in the First Methodist Church, and in the Eastern Star.

Mr. Brokaw is director-emeritus of the extension department at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture, and is serving as the secretary of the Great Plains council.

LOOKING over tomorrow's calendar we found that Mrs. George Abel is to be a luncheon hostess at the University Club. Mrs. Abel, who is president of the Lincoln General Hospital Women's Auxiliary, will be hostess to the Auxiliary officers, and a group of committee chairmen. The chairmen, invited to the luncheon, include Mrs. Norman Walt, chairman of the gift shop committee; Mrs. Ellis Mockett, chairman of the Baby Alumni committee, and Mrs. Bruce Hazen, chairman of the committee on decoration for the Lincoln General Hospital nurses' home. Luncheon places will be arranged for 30.

Next week Mrs. Abel will be hostess at luncheon again when she entertains other Auxiliary committee chairmen.

AND thumbing through our little red book we discovered that the 100 Club members have a date for a party on Saturday, March 6. There will be dancing and supper—western style—at Hotel Cornhusker, and since it is to be a costume affair—we suspect that the party at the "Bar Nothing" ranch will have its full quota of ten gallon hats, jeans and cowboy boots—with perhaps some riding clothes tossed in for good measure.

The committee planning the "Bar Nothing" ranch party includes Dr. and Mrs. Fred Davie, chairmen; Dr. and Mrs. Donald Purvis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seward, Mr. and Mrs. William Stenten, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Holman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Barney and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgren—

The supper? A barbecue, of course.

THE Folsoms — Mr. and Mrs. Arnott—are back in town. Mr. and Mrs. Folsom returned on Monday from a two weeks stay in New York City and Atlantic City.

BACK from New York City, Nassau and Miami Beach — are Mrs. George P. Abel and her daughter, Miss Alice Abel—both with Grade A suntans. In Nassau the travelers ran into Mr. and Mrs. George Abel Jr., who spent their winter holiday there.

HEARD, too, that Mrs. F. M. Andrus and Mrs. Goldie Wilson also returned to Lincoln on Monday from Miami Beach, Fla., where they had been spending the past nine weeks.

Soon To Say Goodbye

Mrs. James Richard Paul and the two Paul small-boys, Kit and Douglas, soon will be on their way to Sioux City, Ia., where they will join Dr. Paul, and where the family will reside. Their friends are happy that Dr. and Mrs. Paul and their family are going no farther away—it's within commuting distance—almost—as Dr. Paul could testify.

Huntington PTA Has State Day

Huntington PTA members had an increased appreciation for modern time-saving appliances after viewing the exhibit of the 100-year-old relics of pioneer life in Nebraska which formed part of the PTA's Celebration of founders day and state day Tuesday evening at the school.

The meeting was opened with the ringing of the first school bell and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bracy, co-presidents, conducted an old-time PTA meeting. The guest speaker was Mrs. Phyllis Winkelman of the Nebraska State Historical Society, and honored guests for the evening were past presidents of Huntington PTA.

In the picture above is Mrs. Bracy (far left) calling the meeting to order with the original Huntington school bell. PTA members, outfitted in dresses of pioneer times, are (seated, left to right) Mrs. Seymour Lee, Mrs. Merlin Rauscher and Mrs. George Weblemo. At the right is Mr. Bracy.

Quilts, samplers, hand-embroidered linen, pewter, china, flat irons and even an early model of a washing machine which great-grandmother would have considered her pride and joy were included in the pioneer exhibit which was followed by an informal evening of square dancing by the PTA members, who wore appropriate costumes for the affair.

Serving as door hosts and hostesses were Mrs. Martha Gaebel, John Sipma and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Lee, and in charge of the social hour was Mrs. Leslie Johnson assisted by Mrs. Larry Benedict, Mrs. Albert Clemens, Mrs. Harold Dovel, Mrs. Marlea Gates, Mrs. William James, Mrs. Lewis Olson and Mrs. Charles Root.

Past presidents of EVERETT PTA were honored Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the group at which Donald Schafer presided. The group presented a PTA life membership to Miss Mabel Souther, a member of the faculty, and a talk was given by Dr. Galen Saylor, president of the state PTA organization.

The program included a vocal duet by Deanne Krough and Fern Wixson; an accom-dion duet by Nancy Deer and Ann Maul; and a gymnastic demonstration by the boys' physical education classes.

Refreshments were served by the hostess committee with Mrs. George Kaufman as chairman.

At its annual founders day program Tuesday afternoon, the NORWOOD PARK PTA honored its past presidents, Mrs. E. L. Sommers, Mrs. Lambert Mills and Mrs. Sam London, who were presented corsages of roses. The group also presented a rose corsage to Mrs. Walter Gillespie, who served as the first treasurer of the PTA.

A program demonstrating the study of music in the public schools was given by Robert Norman, school principal, and pupils of the 5th and 6th grades. Mr. Norman showed colored slides he took on a trip to California.

Mrs. Chester Rung was hostess for the social hour assisted by Mrs. Gillespie.

Matronettes

The Havelock YWCA Matronettes Club will meet at 1:30 o'clock Friday to hear a talk on "New Hair Trends and Personal Make-Up" by Miss Agnes Cizek.

The meeting will be held at the Havelock YW center, and hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. R. V. Wilch, Mrs. Paul Gustafson and Mrs. Dale Ankrom.

We Hear That--

Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Edee III are the parents of a daughter, Shelley, born Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The Edees have another daughter, Cynthia. Mrs. Edee is the former Jane Packer, an Alpha Phi at the University of Nebraska, where Mr. Edee was a Beta. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Packer of Omaha and Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. ## Lincoln Films Forum Meets

More than 40 delegates and guests attended the regular meeting of the Lincoln Films Forum Monday at the YWCA when a preview of the colored sound film, "Flower Arrangements of Williamsburg, Va.", was shown.

Mrs. C. M. Stewart presided at the business meeting when the constitution and by-laws of the proposed Federation of Motion Picture Councils was read. Mrs. Charles Shire invited the delegates to a private screening of the musical, "Rhapsody", to be given Monday morning, March 8.

The Models' Routine

No one wonders how a Powers model looks so lovely all of the time. They take it for granted that she spends hours and hours grooming herself and staging her beauty.

Nothing is farther from the truth. Many Powers models are wives; some are mothers as well. All are popular and consider their private lives of the greatest importance. It is true that they always have that "out of a band box" look—that is their business. But they carry on their business by heaving to a careful schedule that interferes least with their private lives.

Actually, it's easier to look right all of the time than just once in a while. Keeping your grooming up to "company inspection" requires far less time than letting your personal appearance slide and then attempting to whip it into shape for some special occasion.

First of all, models check all details of daintiness and are constantly alerted for seam twists, straggling wisps of hair, lipstick smudges, untidy or unstraightened heels, gloves that are less than impeccable and any other slips. These hallmarks of the attractive woman, constantly policed, require amazingly little time. Yet they are important factors in keeping you ever-ready to make your loveliest appearance.

The rest of the Powers model's sleek appearance is due to a well-devised schedule:

The eyebrows are checked and plucked weekly or bi-weekly, according to needs, but on definite days.

Shampoos and sets are attended to on schedule.

A Powers girl always gives her skin the care it needs in small and regular doses. Cleansing, facials and lubrication are never skipped as the particular skin-type requires.

Nails regularly get a thorough manicure.

Laundry is never allowed to accumulate, minor wardrobe repairs are always cared for before any article is put into a closet or drawer.

Never let the sun go down on a grooming need and you'll always be ready to leave the house looking your prettiest, no matter how sudden or unexpected the occasion. Furthermore, you will save yourself time, embarrassment and the ego-destroying recriminations that are sure to result from procrastination!

Adenauer Vows 'Tireless Fight'

BERLIN (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pledged a "tireless" fight to liberate 18 million Soviet Zone Germans from Communism and begged them to "hold out" until that day is reached.

The Bonn public leader arrived here by air from Bonn, the West German capital.

Addressing a wildly partisan crowd of 5,000, he declared the Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference was "successful" in that it exposed Moscow's policy.

Wants 'Status Quo'

It proved, he said:

1—The Kremlin wants the "status quo" to continue until she can dominate all Europe.

2—That the Americans, British and French are Germany's best friends and they acted so well in Germany's interests "that we can say, no Germans could have done it better."

To the Berliner and the East German, Adenauer asserted:

"Hold out, I beg you. I know I ask much of you. But we shall do everything in our power to help you and we'll never leave you in the lurch."

Confident Of Victory

"On this side and on the other side of the Iron Curtain, the spirit of freedom and love for the people must live. Nothing can stop it. It will win and bring us together again."

In ringing tones, the 78-year-old chancellor lashed out at Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for attempting to impose "Boishevism" on all Europe. He said the Molotov plan for a security treaty of 32 European nations, excluding the United States, was clearly a move in that direction. He added that Molotov's idea for merging the rival governments in Germany without free elections was a clear move to "Boishevize" Germany.

Hearing Set On Pleasant Dale Rail Proposal

A hearing has been set by the State Railway Commission on a proposal by the Burlington Railroad to discontinue its agency in Pleasant Dale and substitute a custodian.

The hearing was set Tuesday following the filing of a petition protesting the change by 28 persons living in the Pleasant Dale vicinity.

Tuesday was the deadline for protesting the move. Commission members said April 15 has been set for a public hearing on the question, since protests had been filed.

About half of the signers were farmers.

The company claims its revenue assignable to the Pleasant Dale station dropped from $9,736 in 1952 to $4,025 in the first nine months of 1953.

Cost of running the agency for the first nine months of last year was $3,640.

205 NEW DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES ROLLING ON UNION PACIFIC TRACKS BY JUNE

Delivery of 190 diesel freight units, 15 passenger units, is expected to be complete by June 1, 1954. Total expenditure, over 35½ million dollars.

Thus, Union Pacific presents concrete evidence of its firm faith in America's future.

And — at the same time — provides additional assurance to shippers and travelers that there is more than mere words in the suggestion to "be specific — use Union Pacific."

Joost's Bad Knee May Keep Him From Playing

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Eddie Joost indicated Tuesday he would not be a playing manager for the Philadelphia Athletics unless he has to.

Taking it easy for the moment at the club's training site here, Joost said he was seriously thinking of calling it quits on a sparkling career which started in 1933.

"Guess I'm Eddie Joost going to have to hang up the glove," he asserted.

Joost was hurt last June in a second base collision with the Chicago White Sox shortstop Chico Carrasquel. He underwent an operation for a growth on the kneecap. As a result he played in only 51 games last season. He had intended to try third base this season.

"Feel this," he invited, bending his right leg. "There's a lump there and it clicks every time I stoop." He said he thought a cartilage was out of place.

The 37-year-old Joost was one of Connie Mack's biggest bargains. He was purchased from Rochester in 1947 for a mere $13,000 and turned out to be one of the greatest shortstops the Athletics ever had, as well as one of the finest in the American League.

Joost was a member of Bill McKechnie's world champions at Cincinnati before being shipped back to the minors and finally landing with the Athletics. He was one of the stars who in 1948 made the Athletics a pennant contender. The club lost out in the late days of the season after Joost jammed a finger sliding into third on a bunt play. Consequently he wasn't available for the stretch run.

Twice a member of the American League all star team and co-holder of the American League record for double play participation, Joost credited much of his renaissance to a decision to wear glasses while playing. He doesn't wear them off the field.

This improvement in his eyesight made him one of the most feared leadoff batters in the majors. Besides becoming a home run threat, he usually managed to promote 100 walks a season while building up a reputation one of the toughest men in the game to pitch to.

A native of San Francisco, married and the father of four boys, Joost was appointed manager of the Athletics this winter to succeed Jimmy Dykes.

During his playing career he equalled a major league record by handling 19 chances in one game in 1941; played 41 consecutive games without an error, accepting 228 chances, and tied an American League record by participating in five double plays in a game at shortstop in 1949.

Joost expects Joe Demaestri to be the regular shortstop this year, with either the veteran Pete Suder, or rookie Jim Fennigan taking care of third base. Fennigan was one of the players obtained in a winter deal with the New York Yankees.

$2,300 Asked For Sherman Field Aids

The Lincoln Civic Baseball Association has asked the City Council to invest $2,300 in improvements at Sherman Field.

The Association noted that such an amount was cut by the Council from the 1954-55 fiscal year budget. The gratitude of the Association was expressed for the past assistance from the city, particularly from City Engineer D. L. Erickson and Recreation Director James Lewis.

A Council committee of Pat Ash and Joseph Fenton was appointed to discuss with the Association its need for the money and to determine the possibility of finding any money in either the park or recreation department.

General Manager Bill Herring of the Lincoln Chiefs, who make their home at Sherman Field, said the improvements would consist of improved draining, returfing of the infield and outfield.

"They are badly-needed improvements," he added.

Wesleyan Tourney Well Run

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

From Class A to Class D and from Scottsbluff to Falls City there probably won't be a better publicized district basketball tournament anywhere in Nebraska than the Class C meet now going on at Nebraska Wesleyan.

Fred Hess Jr., Wesleyan's able sports publicity director, and his student assistant, Bob Peterson, are teaming up to do a big-league publicity job on the tournament.

In the meet are 10 Class C teams from the Lincoln area including top-seeded Syracuse and second-seeded Milford, the powerhouses of the tournament. Syracuse is The Star's top-ranked Class C team.

Hess and Peterson are going all out to see that each school gets a full share of publicity.

First of all, there is the press and radio guide book handed out to all publicity sources and to coaches. It's a 12-page brochure almost as complete as the dope sheet Fred puts out on Flainman athletic teams.

Each team has a page in the brochure. Listed are names and numbers of all players, positions, ages, height, weight, year in school and experience.

Team records are included, as well as information about some key players on each team. You'll also find a short history of each coach in this all-inclusive brochure.

That brochure is just one phase of the stepped-up coverage.

At halftime of each game, Fred runs off several copies of a play-by-play account of the first half, complete with descriptions of every scoring play.

At the end of the game, Hess and Peterson pass out second-half play-by-play sheets. Soon after, the box score is forthcoming.

It's a complete box, too, with shooting percentages and rebounds tabulated for each team and individual, as well as the usual box-score information. All this service requires speed, accuracy and the quick co-operation of the official scorer, Wesleyan basketball Foster McGuire.

Past Hints State Control May Change

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The Republican party has had control of Nebraska state government for 14 years come next January. This is the longest uninterrupted period one political party has been in power since the state was first organized.

"Is it now time to make a change?" is a question frequently heard asked.

If, as they say, history repeats itself, the answer would seem to be "Yes."

Without looking up the horoscope and examining only past political records, the guideposts all seem to point to it being time for a change.

Switches Favored

Nebraskans in the past have looked with favor on making changes in state political leadership when the "same political party was at the helm in Washington."

The present state Republican control which covers a 14 year span was voted into power in 1941 during the national administration by Democrats. It ended a 10-year Democratic tenure started during a Republican national administration.

During 12 years of national leadership by the GOP from 1921 to 1933, the state Democrats took over from 1923 to 1925 only to lose it for the following six years.

The Republican Party seized state power in 1919 during a Democratic national administration after the Democrats had held it six years moving in with the election of Woodrow Wilson as president.

Demos In 1909

Democrats moved into state power in 1909 with the election of President Taft only to lose it in two years. Previously, Republicans had dominated the state during the eight years President Theodore Roosevelt was waving his "big stick."

Democrats on a Fusion ticket with the Populists held sway from 1895 to 1901, moving into power during the national administration of Grover Cleveland after the Republicans had state rule during the first two years of the Democratic national rule.

The Democrats broke the 24 years of interrupted rule by Republicans after the state was admitted to the union after the election of a Republican, Benjamin Harrison, as President. Thus, James E. Boyd became the state's first Democratic governor.

The repeated switching of party leadership in state government in the past would seem to constitute a behavior pattern and indicate that it is about time for a change.

Loken, 910 So. 37th, and Barbara Beckmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Beckmann, 729 So. 37th, third graders at Randolph School, helped set up a classroom display of articles from other countries. Students brought the items from their homes as part of a study of how people from other nations have contributed to American life. The display, worked on throughout the past

MAY BE
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Pidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms. . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermicide—the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

High-potency hormone cream with lanolin—organic oil base

If you are the kind of a person who refuses to look old when you don't feel old, you should find out what a high-potency female hormone cream can do for your skin. We have seen scientific reports demonstrating that lines (wrinkles) can be erased or dimmed, hollows and creases filled out by hormones. Skin that looks up to 10 years younger. These results came quickly—in a few days—and lasted indefinitely, as hormones were supplied to the skin. If your skin looks too old, we suggest you try Hormelin, a blend of high-potency hormones, lanolin and rich organic oils. Made by a trustworthy laboratory. Priced with an eye to your purse.

HORMELIN, a good buy on the hormone market. A product whose potency (10,000 I. U. per oz.) is absolutely guaranteed by the manufacturer. Contains 6% pure anhydrous Lanolin as label indicates.

Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, which has been promoting the development of the park area for the past year.

Jeanne E. Shankland, chairman of the Oak Creek Development Committee, said the county-owned area, lying west of 1st Avenue, would include a model airplane flying circle, parking for overflow traffic from the west lake, and skeet and trap shoot facilities.

She pointed out the area, which was purchased by the county for $250 in 1918 from the Union Stockyards Co., is not being used now except for a model-airplane flying circle.

As to board questions as to what type of conveyance was needed, Miss Shankland replied that the "city probably would not spend money for improvement of the area as a park unless it was decided or conveyed under a 99-year lease."

Board Chairman Russell Brehm said the board had been considering the possibility of allowing the Micro-Midget race track to locate on the area.

The commissioners voted to lay the matter on the table until next week.
